

Meeting of Top Communists Not Speculation

London, Sept. 28. —(UP)— The government has received considerable evidence tending to bear out speculation that top ranking Communist leaders had held a full dress conference somewhere in eastern Europe, a foreign office spokesman said today.

British missions throughout eastern Europe reported the absence of leading Communist diplomats from their capitals. The reports suggested that an international Communist Information Bureau meeting might have been held in Moscow.

Premier Josef Stalin had been reported away from Moscow, presumably vacationing in south Russia. President Klement Gottwald of Czechoslovakia has been in the Crimea—a likely vacation spot for Stalin—for a short rest.

The Moscow radio said only today that Gottwald spent yesterday in Kiev, the capital of the Ukraine, on his way home from the Crimea. It quoted a Tass dispatch saying Gottwald and his

St. Vitus dance, or chorea, is a nervous affliction which has some obscure relation to rheumatic fever. It is most common in children between the ages of 5 and 15. Girls are affected about twice as often as boys, again for some unknown reason. A common symptom of the disease is frequent, sometimes violent, attacks of chorea. Some of those who are attacked by chorea are also attacked by rheumatic fever. Chorea must be suspected in the youngest who suddenly shows signs of awkwardness, such as dropping and breaking dishes without any apparent reason. Emotional disturbances before the onset of symptoms is quite common. Inability to pay attention to school and a rather sudden drop in grades are suspicious signs.

Early Symptoms

The careful parent may observe that the child's muscular movements become more abrupt and uncoordinated. Quick sudden jerking movements of the limbs or of the face are frequent. Walking can become irregular and other motions clumsy. Inability to keep still is characteristic of children, but any great change in a child's ability to sit quietly must be viewed as a possible sign of chorea.

The involuntary movements or muscular spasms of typical chorea are irregular. A certain amount of muscular weakness is usually present.

The outlook for chorea is usually good. It tends to improve by itself in a period of weeks or months, although a diagnosis early in the disease is important.

The most important feature of treatment is to provide a calm mental outlook with absence of emotional upsets combined with physical rest, usually in bed. Sometimes drugs similar to those used in rheumatic fever are helpful.

The Deweys, in Family Assembled

but of course these should be taken only under medical direction. It is the particular muscular twitching movements and inability to stay quiet which has given chorea the popular name of St. Vitus dance.

QUESTION: What causes itching blisters on the fingers in warm weather?

ANSWER: This sounds like some kind of infection or allergy. A diagnosis can be made only by seeing the hands and perhaps examining scrapings from the blisters under the microscope.

Veterans Day Planned at State Fair

Little Rock, Sept. 28 — Fifty wheelchair patients at the Hot Springs Army and Navy hospital will be special guests at the Veterans' Day program at the Arkansas State Fair.

Dewey Warns Russia U. S. Won't Change

Enroute with Dewey to Spokane, Wash., Sept. 28 — A plan to bring to Russia that his election would mean no retreat in the American stand on the Berlin blockade was sounded today by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The GOP presidential nominee turned eastward toward a major speech in the Montana State University auditorium at Missoula tonight, on his way, with stops scheduled at Spokane and Paradise, Mont., he pounded away on the theme that his aim is "the strengthening of our country, of bringing to it a new unity and giving a competence in foreign policy that it does not have."

He said bluntly yesterday that "it would be wise for all of the rulers of the world" to know that the American people close their ranks quickly after elections.

Dewey asserted that a crisis always unites this country.

In furtherance of this theme, Paul Lockwood, the governor's secretary, said that in Missoula tonight Dewey will "talk about the great resources of the west and their significance as a bulwark to the defense of the world."

In Seattle last night, the New York governor told an estimated 8,000 persons who crowded their way into the civic auditorium that America must be "strong and powerful in a nervous world."

In what his aides said they regarded as a direct appeal to the Russian people over the heads of their own government in the Berlin crisis, Dewey said:

"Whatever some leaders may do, I am convinced that the people of all nations desire peace. My most devoted purpose is to spread this conviction among governments through the influence and example of our own unity and desire for peace."

In addition to his expression of views on foreign policy questions, Dewey also came out more strongly than before in defense of the record of the Republican-controlled 66th Congress.

President Truman has called this the "second" and a "do-nothing" Congress.

At Tacoma, Dewey termed it the "best Congress" in response to a query from the train-side crowd. Dewey adopted what he termed as a "nonpartisan attitude toward party questions."

Dewey emphasized his effort to prevent non-partisanship by an assertion that development of the West's natural resources is "above all partisanship."

"As a Republican," he said, "I am proud of the party my party has played in the development of the resources of our country. But in all of our past, both parties have made great contributions and the subject of the future of our country is above all partisanship."

He said large scale projects such as those on the Columbia, Willamette and Missouri rivers "should be accelerated at the earliest possible date."

He urged federal and local control of such hydroelectric projects, calling for the sale "at the very best possible self-generating rate" of the electricity produced.

He said it would be "dangerous to the freedom of our people" to give total control of these and similar projects to "any three men appointed from Washington," adding:

"This is a major issue of our time and I want to make it very clear where I stand."

Says U. S. Is 'Blundering' in Mexican Labor

Greenwood, Miss., Sept. 28 — (AP) — W. M. Garrard, Jr., chairman of the Delta Council Labor Committee, said today that Mexican labor is beginning to move in numbers from Monterrey, Mexico, to the Mississippi delta to assist in the cotton harvest.

He said that Walter Erb, U. S. employment service representative at Monterrey, informed him by telephone yesterday that 1,000 Mexican nationals are going to the cotton picking areas daily as a "gross misrepresentation of facts."

If such a number is being sent out, Erb said in a telegram to the Jackson Daily News, he was at a loss to know where they are going.

"There are no more than 350 Mexican nationals at this date in Mississippi," he declared. He said Louisiana has received none and Arkansas between 5,000 and 6,000. He added that "even Arkansas is not satisfied with the blundering of the U. S. immigration and U. S. employment services."

2 Refuse to Answer Red Question

Washington, Sept. 29 — (AP) — Two officials of the CIO United Electrical Workers refused today to tell a congressional committee whether they are or have been Communist party members.

They are Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer, and Russell A. Nixon, Washington representative. Both said that as American citizens they did not have to answer such questions.

Nixon was ordered from the stand when he attempted to make a statement on his rights under the constitution.

Asked that question by a House Labor subcommittee, Emspak said he would stand on his constitutional rights. The constitution says a man cannot be forced to give testimony tending to incriminate or degrade himself.

(The government today barred the U. E. from representing workers at its atomic energy plants. The action was because U. E. officers have not signed non-Communist affidavits. All unions show officers have not signed them were barred.)

The House group, headed by Rep. Kersten (R-Wis.), is inquiring into Communist influences in labor unions.

Emspak was identified by James J. Conroy, a witness yesterday, as the mysterious "Comrade Junior." Conroy described himself as a former Communist.

Emspak was the second high U. E. union official to refuse to tell the committee whether he is or ever has been a Communist. James Malles, the union's organization director, refused yesterday to answer such questions.

DOROTHY DIX Allergic to Children

Dear Miss Dix: I am a woman 26 years old, very much in love with a widower who is 35 and the father of two children. He loves me, but is very attached to his children. But I can't tolerate children. I loathe them.

Should I marry this widowed man, whom I love, and put up with his children? Or should I marry another man who loves me? Please help me to decide this question, for I do not know which way to turn.

CONFUSED

Answer: If you are allergic to children, I certainly would advise you not to marry the widower. For you will bring misery on yourself, the widower, and the innocent little children.

Let's begin with the widower. He is evidently a fine man who is devoted to his two little children for whom he feels a particular tenderness because they are motherless. If you should marry him, you would wreck his life because your aversion to children would make you a selfish, unkindly, and that would break their father's heart. No man could be put in a crueler position than having to decide between a wife and his children. There would be no happiness in such a marriage for anyone.

Jealousy inevitable
And certainly you would find no happiness in a marriage in which you would be consumed with jealousy over the children, for they would stand as a perpetual barrier between you and their father, and you would know that he would always resent your treatment of the kids and would be trying to protect them.

And as for the children, get out your Bible and read what it says about its being better for anyone to put a millstone around their necks and drown themselves in the sea than to offend one of these little ones.

No one who doesn't love children should ever marry. There is too much danger of a baby sneaking in on them. They are cute little things, you know, and awfully shy.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 13 years old. Make good marks at school. But the problem is that I am very changeable. Even my parents admit this. I change my feelings and tastes practically every week. I like a girl one week, dislike her the next. Same way about colors and what I eat. I keep going round in circles.

Will you please give me some advice on how to adjust myself?

ANSWER: Don't worry about that, my dear. Nature will take care of the task of adjusting you. What you are going through is just growing, and your experience merely shows that you have a better mind than most of the children of your age. The reason I am always beginning and pleading with you bobby-soxers not to marry until you are grownup and your tastes and habits and characters have jelled, so to speak, is because you are so immature that you do not know what you are going to be yourselves, still less what you will want in a husband.

Don't think of yourself as being fickle. Just realize that you are developing. You won't be going around in circles after you are adult. You will know what you want.

New York, Sept. 29. —(AP)—Hot football tip hereabouts is to keep eyes on little Muehlenberg. . . . Observers say the Muehlenbergs are supposedly strong Boston U. team so hard last Saturday that they knocked the fight clear out of the New Englanders. Muehlenberg also gave Rutgers quite a going-over in a scrimmage. . . . While Earl Black's 1948 army team was romping over Villanova, two "Black school" graduates, STU Holcomb at Purdue and Herman Hickman at Yale, also were doing surprisingly well. Now if Andy Gustafson isn't spring something at Miami this week.

Eddie Dyer to Manage Cards 2 More Years

St. Louis, Sept. 29. —(AP)—Eddie Dyer, tabbed by many persons a couple of months ago as on the way out, will manage the St. Louis Cardinals two more years.

Robert E. Hannegan, president of the Cards, announced that he had come to terms with Dyer after a five-minute talk last night.

Hannegan wouldn't say whether the oral agreement called for a pay increase.

Dyer, plagued by injuries to key players throughout the season, was pegged in July by some sports writers as being his last year at St. Louis, providing he even finished the season.

Dyer, 48, took over the manager's post in the winter preceding the 1946 season and led the Cards to the pennant and world championship. Last year the Cardinals finished the season in second place.

Says Russia Will Stop Short of War

Washington, Sept. 28 — (UP)—Three Western diplomats expressed the firm belief today that Russia will stop short of war in her effort to force the Western powers out of Berlin.

These highly-placed sources look for the Soviet union to continue the campaign of harassment which has increased in intensity ever since the rail and road blockade was imposed last June. But they are convinced that Russia does not want to go to war to gain her political objectives.

This view was expressed last night by Walter Bedell Smith, U. S. Ambassador to Moscow who sat in on the ill-fated Berlin negotiations. After a three-hour conference with President Truman aboard the presidential campaign train in Texas, Smith admitted that our relations with Russia are "serious," but said he does not believe there will be war.

"Our policy of patience and determination holds up," said Smith, "we don't have to expect the alternative of war."

Diplomatic sources in Washington do not rule out the possibility that Russia may use force of some kind to lift the air lift which has been supplying the Western sectors of Berlin.

Nor do they minimize the Soviet government's intense desire to oust the Western powers from the city. In fact, there is some feeling that Russia's aggressiveness in Berlin may be motivated by fear that her political position in Eastern Europe may begin slipping.

But diplomatic experts feel reasonably sure the Russians will not take any step which they believe might provoke a shooting war.

These experts give the following reasons for their contention:

1. Two world wars have shown that it would be virtually impossible for any nation to conquer Europe permanently while the industrial and military potential of the United States is intact.

2. It would be profoundly anti-Marxist for a member of the Russian politburo, which dictates Soviet policy, to advance the theory that time is not on the Soviet side.

Soviet ideology says that the capitalist nations will eventually collapse of their own accord.

After his talk with Mr. Truman, Ambassador Smith was surrounded by newsmen who are traveling with the presidential party.

"Is there going to be a war?" one reporter asked.

"That is a question too deep for me to answer," the ambassador responded.

"What are our present relations with Russia?" another broke in.

"They are in a very critical condition," said Smith.

"What do you mean by very critical?"

"I will modify critical and say serious," the ambassador said.

A presidential aide said Mr. Truman found Smith's information "complete" and "very good."

Lessard headed back to Washington shortly after his talk with the president. He is due to return to his post in Moscow in a week or 10 days.

Discussion of Tuition Fees Set for Oct. 5

Fayetteville, Sept. 27 — (UP)—University of Arkansas Pres. Lewis W. Jones today called a meeting in Little Rock Oct. 5 for discussion of protested increases in tuition fees at the University Medical School.

Dr. Jones told a news conference that the medical school's student council, all interested state officials, members of the legislature and representatives of the American Legion and other organizations were invited to attend.

He said the board of trustees of the university's board of trustees would attend.

A letter from medical school students protesting the tuition increase was received by Dr. Jones today.

The letter, signed by Vance J. Crain, president of the medical school student body, and other students, said any increase in costs of operating the school and its hospital at Little Rock should be born by the state and not by the students.

Dr. Jones said he was worried because students seem to feel they cannot express themselves without reprisal, adding that persons would be given a free voice at the Oct. 5 meeting.

Good Way to Pick a Wife Is to Take a Look at the Nap-of-the-Neck Hairline

By HAL BOYLE

New York, Sept. 27 — (UP)—One way to pick a wife is too look at her nap-of-the-neck hairline and find out what dance step she prefers.

A Manhattan hair stylist and a society band leader say in this way a bachelor can quickly discover a girl's secret personality.

Mark, a coiffeur who features a cozy $50 futuristic coiffure, said that after studying several thousand "complete" feminine napes, he had reached these conclusions:

"A girl with a three-pointed hairline is generous, open-handed, and will put herself out for friends. But if the two outer points reach lower than the center, beware. She is the type of person who, if taken advantage of, will retaliate with great venom."

"A straight hairline indicates a gambling instinct and executive ability."

"A five-point hairline shows a rare sense of humor. A girl with a mushrooming, sprawling hairline is artistic, moody — and very unstable. The hair has a tendency to swirl from left to right, that is a sign the girl has a liberal turn of mind."

If his sweetheart passes the hairline test, the bachelor can then assay her character according to a formula evolved by Bandleader Ruby Newman.

Newman divides women into five dancing types — waltzers, fox trotters, provocatives, weird-antics (jitterbugs), and stumblers or non-dancers.

"A girl who loves to waltz is a good bet for a good homemaker," said the maestro. "She is lovable, sensible and understanding. And can be as happy in a one-room flat as in a 20-room mansion."

He thinks the fox-trotter is almost as good a marital bet.

"This girl is a bit more bold than the waltz type. But she usually pretty fair at household duties, overlooks your faults and can charm the boss — even with an empty refrigerator."

The provocative type, said Newman, is an exhibitionist who thrives on rumbas and gambas in sophisticated manner. She's not reluctant to test the kitchen chinaware on your skull, and she loves and demands a good time. Household chores are out of her world. To keep her happy you have to give her lots of attention as well as a good paycheck.

The weird-antic girl uses up so much energy juggling her life that she has no strength left for tidying up the house. Her intelligence quotient is rated lower than a 1914 Russian tsar.

"She's always too tired to tackle the family wash, and her sink is full of dirty dishes," Newman warned.

Said rather be wrapped in a good pulp tale or the latest comic magazine. To her the frills of life weigh more than the necessities, and her husband's income will be a ways trial her budget.

The band leader classified the last type, the female stumbler who spends more time dancing on her escort's feet than on the floor, as one answer to the shortage of household maids.

"She's a weak, subservient and a kitchen addict. But a bachelor could do a lot worse than marry her. She'll always be home when he gets there."

Newman added one caution: "If a girl likes to rumba and samba and still be a waltz type. She may be able to dance any step. To type her right you have to find out which step she likes to dance most often."

Strike up the band, gents. Ladies the hairline forms to the right.

Kids Loot Candy From Train Wreckage

Valley Park, Mo., Sept. 28 — (UP)—Kids on their way to school found plenty of excitement and a load of candy at the scene where 34 freight cars were derailed yesterday.

Contents of some of the cars were strewn along the road and kids passed up the refrigerators, cool beer and furniture to scramble for the contents of the candy car.

One of the 72 cars in the train buckled in the center as the westbound freight train crossed a bridge over the Meramec river here. Thirty three others crashed and were tossed in a twisted string along the approach to the bridge, but no one was injured.

While they viewed the wreck, the youngsters lunched chocolate bars and some of them brought as much as six and seven pounds of stuff to class.

Er. Street superintendent of schools reported that 300 kids had more of the candy than they could eat. Three of them ate so much they got sick and had to be sent home.

Miss Hazel Matlock and Miss Alice Grimes spent Sunday in Morrilton. They were accompanied by Miss Lila Grimes who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Box and other relatives for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hays have as their guests their daughter, Mrs. James Charles Harris and Mr. Harris of National City, California.

Miss Lois Nolan has recently returned from Little Rock where she underwent surgery at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Fred Posey has returned to Henderson College, Alexandria after spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Peachey.

Miss Sue Jones, student at State Teachers College, Conway, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Jones.

Shell Blakely has returned to Hendrix College, Conway after spending the weekend with his father, P. M. Blakely.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Taylor had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander of Magnolia.

Mrs. Lillian Shauer of Emmett visited friends in Prescott Monday.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 28 — (UP)—Actress Martha Sleeper today told of her escape from a shipwrecked yacht and said that her drama it surpassed any of her Broadway stage roles.

The actress said she and three men finally made their way to shore in a small dinghy after spending 11 hours in knee-deep water, fished to the mast of the "Elia M." which sank at the rocks off Savannah Beach Saturday night.

"It reminded me of the part I played in 'The Rugged Path' opposite Spencer Tracy two years ago," Miss Sleeper said. "That play is a stage melodrama of shipwreck at sea."

Miss Sleeper, who off stage is Mrs. Harry Deutschen of New York, has also appeared recently in "The Belle of Mary's" and "Christopher Blake."

She said sailing is her main hobby and she was en route to Florida Saturday to join her husband, a construction engineer, who was coming from Puerto Rico to meet her.

Just off Savannah Beach the yacht, valued at $100,000, hit a "blind buoy" and slammed into the rocks, ripping a jagged hole in the hull.

"There was an awful jolt and our boat seemed to sink almost instantly," Miss Sleeper said. "The deck was left awash in knee-high water, and the tide was coming in."

Attempts to send distress signals on the yacht's radio were futile, she said, as the set was grounded out almost immediately by the rising water.

The yacht sank in the rough water. There was nothing to do but wait for morning, so the actress and the men lashed themselves to the masts to keep from being swept away by the rising tide during the night.

"The water was warm," Miss Sleeper said, "but before the night was out the ocean was up to our necks."

Next morning the yacht owner, Nicholas A. Schlangier of Springfield, Ill. and three crewmen raised the sunken lifeboat with Miss Sleeper's help and paddled ashore.

"I was barefooted, and when we reached shore we had to walk over what seemed to be endless oyster shells and through knife-sharp reefs to get to high ground," Miss Sleeper said.

She spent most of yesterday soaking her aching feet and plastering them with adhesive tape.

Kiwanis Talks Are About Troubled World

Little Rock, Sept. 27 — (UP)—An "amintment crisis" has faced every convention of the Missouri-Kansas-Arkansas district of Kiwanis International, and this year is no exception.

So said District Governor C. I. Moyer of Topeka, Kan., in a address opening the district's 20th anniversary convention here today.

"We are meeting at a time when the world is sick of its mistakes and hungry for peace and brotherhood of man," he declared. "It is that we might contribute our part toward remedying this situation through service to our community, state, nation and the world that we are meeting today."

About 1,000 Kiwanians had registered throughout and late arrivals were expected.

Did Premier Stalin double-cross the Western powers in the recent agreement over Berlin, or were his orders disobeyed by subordinates?

That is to say, is Stalin ("Man of Steel," as Lenin named him) still the undisputed dictator of Communism, or has he slipped to the point where his lieutenants dare override his commands?

That to my mind is one of the vital questions involved in the new East-West crisis—the most complicated and dangerous moment of the "cold war" to date. We need to know the answer because the outcome of the imbroglio may hinge on who is boss of Russia and Communism.

The records of the Democracies show that at Stalin's second meeting with the American, British and French representatives in Moscow on August 23 there was a "final agreement in principle" between Russia and the Western powers.

This specified that the Soviet blockade of Western Berlin should be lifted unconditionally and that the Western powers would reciprocate by accepting Soviet currency in their three sectors of the German capital, although under four-power control and not single Soviet control.

The four governments instructed their military commanders in Germany to carry out the terms of this solemn agreement.

Right there the double-cross started. Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, Soviet military commander, promptly threw a monkey-wrench into the machinery by making conditions for this unconditional agreement.

He demanded that the Western Allies should stipulate that when the Soviet food and blockade was lifted the Russians should take control of all transport into Berlin, including air transport on which the beleaguered city now depends.

Naturally the democracies opposed this because it would enable the Bolsheviks to impose another blockade which the Western Allies no longer would be able to overcome by the airlift.

Negotiations went from bad to worse. Finally the U. S., Britain and France tried to get Generalissimo Stalin to order Sokolovsky to carry out the terms of the original agreement. Moscow in effect refused to do this, and the three democracies decided to toss the whole business into the hands of the United Nations Security Council.

That, of course, may break the U. N. wide open, resulting in the withdrawal of the Russian bloc. Eddy Gilmore, AP chief of bureau in Moscow, says the big question being asked by foreign diplomats there is: Will Russia withdraw from the United Nations?

They also are asking whether the U. S. will founder over the Berlin issue.

It strikes us that this showdown in the U. N. is one of the best things which could happen. We never have had a "United Nations" thus far, and it's time this situation was probed out. However, that's beside the point of who double-crossed whom.

Diplomatic quarters in Washington are puzzled. The speculation is that either Stalin reconsidered, or that the Communists are trying to solve.

However, his former wife, Marcia Sand, characterized the charges against him as "ridiculous to begin with."

Regarding the charges against herself, she said:

"Of course I refute them. I have nothing to say. We'll see what Truman will say."

She declined to amplify the remark.

The committee said its first report, on a month's long inquiry, tells "only a small part" of the whole story of atomic spy activities. Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) announced that locked-door hearings will continue indefinitely.

While stressing that so far it has been able only to "scratch the surface," the committee declared that the evidence it has turned up has been known to government agents for more than five years.

"Any further delay in proceeding with prosecutions of the members of these espionage groups," the report asserted, "could result in tragic consequences to the United States and to the world."

There was no immediate comment from the Justice Department. Attorney General Clark, who has denied previous committee charges that his staff has been lax in prosecuting spy cases, is en route to Washington from Texas, where he had been traveling on President Truman's campaign train.

Thomas said the committee also wants to know more about Arthur Alexandrovich Adams. The report called Adams "virtually a 'charter member' Communist of the Soviet Union" and termed him the central figure in the case against Hickey and Chapin.

Adams presumably has returned to Russia, the committee said, after having been "actively engaged in espionage activities for the Soviet government."

The report said Soviet diplomats in his country welded American Communists into "several espionage groups" during the war and directed their activity toward getting secret information on development of the A-bomb.

Those groups "were successful," the committee said. But it added it can not "accurately evaluate the importance or volume" of the data gathered.

"It has been established, however, that certain vital information was actually transmitted to the Russian government, and that this information has been and will be of assistance to the Russians in their development of the atomic bomb," the report said.

Eight Americans Trapped When Reds Take City

Peiping, Sept. 27 — (UP)—Ten missionaries, eight American and two British, were trapped in Tsan-shan when the city fell to the Communists last Friday, authorities reported today.

The Americans were identified as the Rev. and Mrs. John Hamilton, Arthur N. Y., the Rev. Richard Bryant, Lockport, N. Y., Dr. and Mrs. Howell P. Lair, the Rev. L. J. Davis, and Helen McLain, all Presbyterian, and Florence Evans, Baptist. The addresses of the last five were not available.

The Americans were reported connected with Cheloo University in the suburbs of Tsinan. They telegraphed Tuesday that all was well with them.

Arctic Expedition Found Documents Left by Peary

Washington, Sept. 28 — (UP)—The State Department said today a United States expedition to the Arctic last summer found documents left in 1905 by Rear Adm. Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole.

An announcement, made jointly with the Canadian government, said the three navy and coast guard vessels also had discovered records left by the British explorer Sir George Nares in 1875 and 1876.

The brief statement gave no details. It said "as is usual on North-northern expeditions, Peary's notes found in the Cairn were replaced by appropriate documents." The navy now has the originals.

The spot where the documents were located is in the extreme northern part of Canada on Ellesmere Island about 450 miles from the North Pole.

Peary visited the area in 1905 and 1906. He reached the North Pole on another trip in 1909.

History of A P & L Related in a Colorful Pageant

Pine Bluff, Sept. 28 — (UP)—The history of the Arkansas Power Light company was presented in a colorful pageant here today, highlighting the observance of the utility's 35th anniversary.

The celebration in this city, headquarters of APL, is the second in honor of the corporation, founded in 1913 by the late Harvey Coughlin. A community celebration was held yesterday in Batesville, Ark.

Opening today's program was a parade through the city's streets, followed by a barbecue.

Addressing a public meeting here tonight will be Edgar H. Dixon, New York, president of Electric Power and Light Corp., a $659,000,000 firm which APL is an affiliate.

Pine Bluff's observance will end with a breakfast luncheon during which the Chamber of Commerce will present a bronze plaque to C. Hamilton Moses, president of the APL.

Speaking in Batesville last night, Moses predicted that the investment will spend $750,000,000 within the next 30 years developing the White River valley.

That's a problem which foreign diplomats are trying to solve.
